

Reaching Back for Help

Fritz Ligday, a project engineer for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Europe District, is the combat engineer's right hand man. Ligday volunteered with other civilians from Europe District to join the engineer family to help rebuild Iraq. Here, Ligday and a soldier from the 40th Engineer Battalion access a panel on the 14th of July bridge in Baghdad.

U.S. Army photo

Read how Corps civilians
are reaching
back to help
the engineers
in "Measuring Up" on page 20